

Client: Utah
Source: Fall Line Skiing (Main)
Date: 01 January 2011
Page: 114
Reach: 22000
Size: 511cm2
Value: 991.34

Snowy North America

Here lies a list of Fall-Line's favourite North American resorts. We've put in some handy plane and train information to help you find your way to each of them, as well as a big old map so that you can cross off the resorts you've already hit up!

AMERICAN and Canadian resorts, especially in the west, are renowned for lush and abundant white stuff and spoken of in revered tones by those who've had the chance to visit. Head to Utah's steeps and deeps (Alta, Snowbird, Powder, Solitude and more), British Columbia's powder triangle (Fernie, Red Mountain and Whitewater, and Kicking Horse) or go and hit the snow jackpot at Mount Baker in Washington.

More plus points? Well, they're much less crowded than Europe, and have super fast lifts, immaculately well-kept groomers, and keenly friendly service, too. There's also no language barrier to worry about, either.

